Title IX & Transgender Student Rights: Where We Are & What to Expect Next

Tuesday, March 16 ~ 1:00-2:00pm (Eastern)

Once the live date has passed, this training will be available on demand.

Overview

In May 2016, the Dept. of Education and the Dept. of Justice, under the direction of the Obama administration, released a "Dear Colleague" letter that provided Title IX guidance, related to the inclusion of transgender students. Affirming the rights of transgender students in federally-funded K through 12 schools and universities across the country, the guidance was applauded by LGBTQ+ activists. However, the guidance was rescinded under the Trump administration in February 2017. The new guidance directed schools, local school districts, colleges, universities, and states to decide the best path forward for their students. This guidance created many challenges and resulted in continued legal challenges to trans exclusionary views of Title IX regulations. With the change in leadership at the federal level, LGBTQ+ activists, organizations and professional educational associations, expect several changes to Title IX guidance, particularly related to transgender students.

In this webinar, participants will learn about the Obama-era Title IX guidance for transgender inclusion and the Trump administration changes. Additionally, attendees will also learn about what we may expect from the incoming Biden administration and how new revisions might impact the rights of transgender students across the country.

Objectives:

- Understand what the Obama-era Title IX guidance meant for transgender students
- Recognize the changes implemented under the Trump administration
- Identify what the current guidance means for institutions of learning
- Explore the potential changes we may expect under the incoming Biden administration

Who Should Attend?

- Middle & High School Educators
- Principals
- School District Administrators
- Title IX Coordinators
- 2 and 4-year institutions
- Faculty (full and part-time)
- Department Chairs
- Vice Presidents
- Provosts
- Health & Counseling Staff
- Diversity & Inclusion Staff
- Any educator interested in learning more about Title IX and transgender rights
